VOL. V, NO. 151

PRICE—FIVE CENTS

THE CONVENTION CITY

Captures the Prohibitionists This Time.

FRESNO IS DECIDEDLY IN IT

And a State Ticket Will Be Selected Here On Wednesday, May 25.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 23.—The state central committee of the Prohibition party of California met today at the Palace hotel to fix a time and place for holding the next state convention.

Chairman Henry French of San Jose presided. It was found that scarcely a quorum was present when called to order.

At the night session a much larger delegation was present, when representation was fixed as follows:

Two delegates at large from each county and one delegate for each twenty votes cast for Bidwell for governor at the last election, delegates to be eligible to seats in the convention regardless of sex.

It was decided to hold the state convention at Fresno on Wednesday, May 25. Applications for the convention were also received from San Francisco, Oakland, Stockton and Chico, but it was decided to go to Fresno on the second ballot.

Fresno offered to raise $500 to entertain the delegates and gives the use of the Barton opera house for the convention.

CANINE COURSING.

Lovers of the Sport Have a Day at Madera.

MADERA, March 23.—A more lovely day for the coursing meet could scarcely have been asked for than the one that dawned on the second day for the State Coursing club. Again many people attested their interest by their presence and the running was fine, although not the long distance that the club had hoped for, owing to the fat condition of the hares and the breeding season.

For some reason a change of judges was made, James Cullaton being selected instead of Frank Cooney.

Owing to the bad condition of some of the dogs, whose feet had been cut in running, and one of the fastest dogs having died, the races closed at 2 p.m., consolation stakes for tomorrow being declared off.

The first ties having been run off yesterday the second ties were taken part in and won by the following dogs: Dan C. beat Dashaway, Banshan Boy beat Queen Bess, Nattie beat Firensa, Sky Rocket beat Whip.

In the third ties Dan C beat Banshan Boy, Nattie and Sky Rocket each run a tie in order to bring them even on the card. Sky Rocket beat Nattie.

In the fourth tie, first money, $140, was won by Sky Rocket; second, $140, by Dan C., and third, purse of $75, by Nattie. Dashaway, Queen Bess, Banshan Boy, Firensa, Whip and Cathpoyes each won $20.

Wrathy Women.

VISALIA, March 23.—Twenty women waited on a white woman who was living with Walter James, who was tried yesterday for outraging a girl, and gave her twenty-four hours to leave town. The jury refused last night to acquit James, though no evidence was introduced for the prosecution. They stood nine for conviction. Anyhow James is still in jail and it is feared will be hanged by the indignant citizens if turned loose.

In for Counterfeiting.

MERCED, March 23.—Tim Shoy, who was released from San Quentin a few weeks ago after a 10-year sentence for murder, was arrested in Livingston yesterday and brought here on a charge of counterfeiting. He had been working as a ranch hand for Judge Gillham, and considerable counterfeit money was found on his person, also some counterfeiter's tools and receipts for making spurious coin. He is in the county jail here under $200 bonds.

Lucky Baldwins.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 23.—The Post says the relatives and friends of George Baldwin and his wife Anita, are still at work making efforts to find out the present whereabouts of the happy pair. The latter took the train for the north and are now enjoying a honeymoon in some small town in the most picturesque part of Siskiyou county. There they will remain until the end of next week, when they will return to this city.

In the Ring Again.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 12.—The affairs of A. Lusk & Co., who suspended some time ago, have been settled and business will go on the same as heretofore with the addition on the board of several local capitalists who have become interested in the business. All outside enterprises of the company will be dropped and the company will confine itself exclusively to canned goods and the commission business.

Can They Do It?

SAN FRANCISCO, March 23.—The case of Chew Sing Jao, charged with the murder of Special Police Officer Gaulin on November 7 last was given to the jury this morning. In charging the jurors Judge Murphy urged them not to be biased against the defendant because he was a Chinaman, but to give the same fairness to their deliberations that they would for any person.

Moderate in His Demands.

VISALIA, March 23.—Joseph Quigley has commenced suit in the superior court against the Southern Pacific for being ejected from a train at Pixley on March 1 by an employe and injured so as to not be able to work. He sues for $2000.

The Markets.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 23.—Wheat weak; buyer season $1.60⅞; seller '92, $1.42¾; barley quiet, buyer season 98½, seller season 94; corn $1.25; silver bars 88⅝@88¾; Mexican dollars 70½@71c.

A Cool Criminal.

PERTH, Austria, March 23.—The preliminary hearing in Deeming's case was finished today and the prisoner formally remanded for trial at Melbourne for the murder of his wife in Windsor. The court room was again crowded, but Deeming maintained his nonchalance.

Mills Will Grind.

AUSTIN, Tex., March 23.—At the joint session of the legislature today the vote for senator resulted—Mills 123, Bailey 4, Chilton 3, Gibbs 2, Culberson 1, Jones 1, Sayres 1.

UNCLE SAM'S PROTECTION

Is Badly Wanted in the Gilbert Islands.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 23.—King Tonbrine of Butaritari, who arrived in this city on the bark Towara last week, announces that his mission to this country was to secure the protection of the United States for the Gilbert islands. He says he feels that the islands would be much more prosperous under such protection. If this government will accept the proposition and raise the American flag over the islands he would agree to transfer to the United States the harbor of the island of Butaritari and to keep the harbor in good condition as a coaling station and for refuge at all times. He would also assist to his utmost in promoting commercial relations between the countries.

King Tonbrine will return to the islands in a few days, but states that he has arranged that his proposition be laid before the authorities at Washington.

Reiterates Its Statement.

DETROIT, March 23.—The Tribune tomorrow will reiterate the statement that David B. Hill has declared to certain Michigan politicians that he would not be a candidate in the coming presidential race. According to the Tribune one of those gentlemen states that Hill said in substance that he was ambitious to be President, but was afraid that he would be defeated at the polls. "It is safe to say," the gentleman added, "that next to himself Hill desires to see the nomination go to John L. Palmer of Illinois."

Stanford to the Rescue.

WASHINGTON, March 22. — Senator Stanford has introduced a bill for the relief of settlers upon certain lands within the recent reservation in Tulare county, Cal. All bonafide settlers of these reservations situated on the head waters of Poso creek, White river, Deer creek and Kaweah river, Tulare county, shall be paid for all improvements and labor expended, severally or jointly, upon each settlements being legally entered. Sufficient money is appropriated to carry out the provisions of the act.

It is Now His Lungs.

BERLIN, March 23.—The Tagblatt reports that Emperor William is suffering from emphysema of the lungs. No other paper mentions emphysema and nothing is known in well informed quarters confirmatory of the Tagblatt's reports. According to official statements the Emperor is suffering from an attack of some kind of influenza.

SALISBURY AND SEALS

NOW BEING HANDLED BY THE SENATE.

This Government Will Not Be Much Longer Trifled With.

WASHINGTON, March 23. — Senator Sherman and General John M. Foster of the state department held a conference with the President this morning on the advisability of a prompt transmission to the senate of the Behring sea correspondence which passed between this country and Great Britain since March 8.

The correspondence consists, it is understood, of two notes, the first being Lord Salisbury's cabled note of March 18 and the reply from the President, dated yesterday.

It is broadly intimated that there is an implied disposition on the part of Great Britain to resent any interference by this government with the vessels flying the English flag. Any pelagic sealing in Behring sea would undoubtedly result in a rejection of the treaty in its present form.

The gravity of the case has led to the renewal of the strongest efforts of the senators to prevent the public from being made acquainted with the facts until the correspondence progresses further. There is no expression of opinion by the President in the letter of transmittal, but this is not needed, as his views are clearly defined in the position assumed by him in the rejoinder to Salisbury, which appeared to meet with the unanimous approval of senators.

Although the debate itself was too short to disclose officially the standing of the senators, and although there has been nothing in the nature of a direct vote upon the treaty of arbitration, there is a well defined opposition to it, as being a surrender of the United States of her rights as acquired by treaty with Russia.

It can be stated that a treaty will soon be ratified by the senate, but a resolution will accompany it reciting that there does not appear to be any sufficient reason for the abatement by the United States of its claims to jurisdiction pending an arbitration, and authorizing the President to use all the military arms of the government to insure the protection of the rights of the United States.

Lord Salisbury does not, in his note, refuse to enter into a modus vivendi of some kind, but, diplomatically speaking, he fails to consent to the proposition made by this government. Inasmuch as the senate has refused to make the correspondence public it is difficult to get a clear idea of the points intended to be conveyed, but undoubtedly the impression generally conveyed was that Lord Salisbury refused to renew last year's arrangements. It can be stated that there is nothing in the nature of an ultimatum on the part of either government in the correspondence laid before the senate. It is still considered incomplete, but underlying a formal phrase only of diplomacy. It is the evident intention on the part of this government to bring the matter to a point of definite determination before the season is far advanced. The President's reply, it is thought, will greatly tend to the attainment of the desired result.

After Many Months.

DUNBAR, Pa., March 23.—Though denied by the mine officers, it is positively reported that the bodies of 22 of the 31 miners entombed in the Hill farm mine on June 16, 1890, have been recovered. Large crowds are on the way to the mines.

One of the men in the rescuing party said today that three weeks ago they drew out of the water from No. 9 flat and discovered that the fire had not done any damage in that flat and that the men working there must have died from suffocation. Work for the past twenty months has been carried on under difficulties, next to insurmountable, but the end has come, and before the week is over the bodies of the unfortunate men who perished will be brought to the surface. The work has been horrible, the stench being awful and the searchers have had to use barrels of lime to purify the air.

Extradition Treaty.

PARIS, March 23.—M. Ribot, minister of foreign affairs, and M. Ricard, minister of justice, have submitted to the cabinet the text of an extradition treaty with the United States.

A DUEL MAY RESULT

In the Affair Between Drayton and Borrowe.

TWO OF NEW YORK'S 400

An Interesting Story of Their Trip Across the Sea—Rumor of a Meeting.

NEW YORK, March 23.—James Coleman Drayton and Hallett Alsop Barrowe, principals in the cause celebre, which is now agitating the New York 400, arrived with no evidence of a sanguinary meeting which was half anticipated by an interested public on this side of the water.

This trouble arose out of Barrowe's intimacy with Mrs. Drayton and culminated in an attempt on the part of the injured husband to seek satisfaction by force of arms.

The Majestic did not reach here till late this afternoon. Shortly afterward a revenue cutter with fourteen on board left the dock and, notwithstanding orders to the contrary, when the steamer was reached the whole party clambered aboard. There was no evidence of any unusual excitement aboard.

Captain Parsell was on the bridge. When questioned by the energetic reporters he received them with a look of blank amazement. "I know nothing of any trouble between two gentlemen," said he. "Indeed I did not know that Drayton and Barrowe knew each other."

Borrowe and Millbank were discovered later and both were greatly startled at what they deemed an intrusion by the reporters. They were informed of the marked attention given their personal affairs by Americans generally during the past week and were shown copies of letters purported to have passed between Borrowe and Drayton.

These were received with significant shakes of the head and accompanying smiles, but both refused to make a statement.

Barrowe said: "I think Drayton should make a statement first anyway, as he began the trouble." Drayton also refused to be interviewed on the subject, but announced that after consultation with friends he will decide what course to take. The men met but once on the steamer and then avoided each other.

At an early hour this morning a sensational report is in circulation to the effect that Drayton and Barrowe had proceeded to a quiet spot in Westchester county to discuss the situation and perhaps will have an encounter in the morning.

They were accompanied respectively by Millbank and Freddie Gebhardt.

It is impossible to verify the rumor. A morning paper prints an alleged interview with Borrowe.

The reporter asked if there was any impropriety in his conduct with Mrs. Drayton.

Borrowe denied emphatically that there had been.

"Have you had any communication with her?"

"I have not."

"You have not written to her, or she to you?"

"Hum, well, I rather think, upon consideration, that I won't answer that question."

HILL AND CLEVELAND

Bring the Democrats to Silver and Anti-Silver.

WASHINGTON, March 23.—At the evening session of the house Livingstone of Georgia, in advocating the silver bill said that if congress did not now hear the voice of the people, the time would soon come when that voice would be heard. Speaking of the contest in the Democratic party in New York Livingston said, Hill and Cleveland meant nothing more nor less than silver and anti-silver.

Harter interrupted with the query, "Do you mean to say that Hill is in favor of free coinage?"

Livingston—"Well, now; will you vote for Hill if he is?"

"No, sir," replied Harter, with emphasis, amid applause and laughter.

How It Was Settled.

NEW YORK, March 23.—The statement is made that the reason for the Searles-Hopkins settlement is found in the fact that Mrs. Searles' partnership with Stillman & Hubbard allowed her but one-half of the estate, or $11,000,000 of the personal property. Of the latter the laws of Massachusetts allowed the husband one-half, leaving only about $5,500,000 for Timothy Hopkins to fight for. The compromise was effected at $3,250,000.

For Russian Relief.

MINNEAPOLIS, March 23.—One hundred and seventy-five cars, containing 22,000 barrels of flour, were sent out in eight sections today by the Washburn-Crossly mills to the Russian Relief association of Philadelphia. The trains are gaily decorated with flags, bunting and mottoes.

How It Was Done.

CHICAGO, March 23.—Dr. Scudder was indicted again today for the assassination of his mother-in-law, this time being charged with poisoning her as well as pounding in her skull. The poison is said to have been administered with a hypodermic syringe.

Lucky Coombs.

NEW YORK, March 23.—A Washington special says the President has assured Senators Stanford and Felton that he will appoint Frank Coombs of Napa to the vacant Japanese mission.

Raised a Fraction.

WASHINGTON, March 23.—The offer of silver to the treasury aggregated 682,000 ounces. The amount purchased was 15,000 ounces at .8908 to .8915.

STRIKE SETTLED.

TORONTO, March 23.—The Canadian Pacific authorities of this division have done their share in supplying men to take charge of trains left unmanned by the strikers. Ten train crews of fifty special constables left for North Bay. The constables are armed and have a supply of handcuffs.

St. John—Dispatches are pouring in from all directions asking if the men on the Atlantic division of the Canadian Pacific railway intended to strike in sympathy with the train hands in the west. Conductor Cassidy, a representative of the Order of Railway Conductors, says there will be no strike in this section. The western strikers have not even sent a word asking sympathy. The men here say the company dealt honestly with them. No men have been sent from here to Manitoba to take the places of the strikers.

Winnipeg—It is currently reported that the big strike on the Canadian Pacific is practically over and the men are returning to work. It is understood the engineers, who have taken no part in the trainmen's strike, tendered their good offices last night toward a settlement of the dispute. Their aid was accepted by the company. If this is true it is more than likely that the difficulty will be brought to a finish during the afternoon. This is said to be the first case of settlement of such a strike in such a manner, and it speaks well of the estimation in which both parties hold the engineers.

Minneapolis—The Canadian Pacific strike is settled. The men will be reinstated. The question of wages has been left to a committee of engineers.

Raising the Tax.

OTTAWA, March 23.—Gordon of British Columbia has given notice of his intention of introducing a bill amending the Chinese immigration act by increasing the poll tax on Chinese immigrants from $50 to $100 per head. The bill enacts that after the expiration of four months from the passage of the act Chinese immigration into Canada shall be prohibited altogether.

McEnery Gets It.

NEW ORLEANS, March 23.—The election passed off very quietly, New Orleans gives McEnery over 11,000 majority. The Times-Democrat estimates that contrary to expectation the state will not decrease it much, and may increase it. The estimates for the state vary from 9000 to 12,000.

A MURDER SOLVED

BY THE FIND OF THE DEAD MAN'S REMAINS

In a Lonely Canyon—The Supposed Perpetrator of the Crime Arrested.

PHOENIX, A. T., March 23.—A telegram was received from the sheriff of Pima county this afternoon stating that the remains of Henry Holland had been found at the head of Josephine canon, near the Salero ranch, that county.

Holland was a rich rancher near Salero, and an old time and reputable citizen.

In the latter part of June last he suddenly disappeared, leaving no trace. At the time a Mexican named Joaquin Rascuon, who was working on the ranch, was arrested on suspicion, but discharged owing to lack of evidence. Later the Mexican sold off a parcel of cattle and collected numerous bills belonging to Holland and left. He was apprehended in Tucson last night and arrested, charged with Holland's murder. When found the skull of the murdered man was crushed in by some blunt instrument, the body completely decomposed and one foot gone. His hat was picked up fifty yards distant riddled with bullets.

The scene of the murder is an obscure portion of the ranch at the entrance of a rocky canyon where it is presumed the unfortunate man had gone in search of stray cattle when he met his death.

The Victor.

Dick Fails, the winner of the Fails-Choynski fight at Madera Tuesday night, came down from that place last evening accompanied by his trainer, Billy O'Donnell. Fails looked bright and showed no signs of the battle. He left early this morning for his home in Minneapolis.

Extremities of Animals.

No animal has more than five toes, digits or claws to each foot or limb. The horse is one toed, the ox two toed, the rhinoceros is three toed, the hippopotamus is four toed and the elephant and hundreds of other animals are five toed.—St. Louis Republic.

His Remarkable Staff.

The principal of a graded school surprised his hearers recently by the following suggestive sentence, uttered in all seriousness:

"I am teaching at S——, and have a corpse of eight teachers."—Wide Awake.

Worth Thinking Of.

Customer—Isn't that a pretty good price for a porous plaster?

Druggist—Yes, but just think how long it will last.—New York Sun.

The Poor They Have Not with Them.

At the union religious meeting at Vanlue Thanksgiving day a collection was taken for the relief of the poor and needy. This money was placed in the hands of a committee of ladies, and now they come forward and report that they can find neither poor nor needy in the village or vicinity, and don't know what to do with the funds.—Cor. Pittsburg Dispatch.

The principal causes of death in one year in New York city were: Pneumonia, 5,817; consumption, 5,160; diarrhoeal diseases, 3,585; Bright's disease, 2,503; heart disease, 2,287; violence, 1,957; bronchitis, 1,834; diphtheria, 1,363; scarlet fever, 1,221; influenza, 838.

During the Eighteenth century, to satisfy the demands of enthusiastic amateurs, a large business of counterfeiting antique intaglios and cameos was developed. This was assisted by forging the signatures of classic artists.

SENATOR INGALLS evidently wants to do the prodigal son act. The picking is rather short on the outside at present.

WHAT'S the matter with Ben Harrison's administration? It's all right. Not a single charge of importance can be brought against it.

JAY GOULD now attends church every Sunday. The inefficient reporter has failed to state the amount he chips in when the hat comes 'round.

IT is to be hoped that the new drinking fountain will be erected and in good working order by the time the Democratic state convention meets in this city.

THE press report that Hill is not a candidate is evidently a canard. Mr. Hill did not hold that mid-winter convention and make a tour of the country for fun.

THE state Prohibition convention will meet in this city on May 25. That will in nowise interfere with the city's capacity to properly entertain the Democratic state convention.

FROM this distance it looks as though the commuting of murderer Freeman's sentence to life imprisonment is a mistake. The murderer was drunk, but his crime was cowardly and unprovoked.

THE extra width of Fresno street can be appreciated now that it is not obstructed with a high board fence and a smell that would stop an 8-day clock. It is a pity that all the streets of the city were not made of equal width.

A VERY fair test of the intellectual status of a community may be found in the number of people who will turn out to hear a distinguished lecturer. It is not at all creditable to Fresno that such men of letters as George W. Cable and Max O'Rell were greeted with houses conspicuous for their empty seats.

THE inference having been drawn from matter published in this paper that the place of birth of A. B. Butler is incorrect as it appears on the great register of this county, it is proper to say that the correctness of the record is vouched for by residents of the county who are personally acquainted with the facts.

THE Chicago Herald picturing Governor Boies eating the leg of a turkey with a knife is a sad blow to the presidential chances of that gentleman. A man who is too high toned or don't know how to eat the drumstick of a turkey in the proper way by holding in his hand, cannot get the support of the bone and sinew of this land for the highest office in their gift.

BROTHER CLEVELAND says that this is the age of revolt. It does look a little that way. The colored brethren of Mozambique are now doing quite an active business in the revolt line, and the citizens of New York have of late become rather restive under the rule of a statesman whom the New York Sun irreverently terms the "stuffed prophet." Seems to be quite a revolutionary spirit abroad.

THE Oakland Times, a prominent Democratic newspaper, makes this appeal in behalf of Cleveland: "The newspapers ought to let Grover Cleveland alone. He has said that he would only be a candidate for the presidency in case there was a popular call for him. This should be satisfactory to all concerned. There will be no popular call for Mr. Cleveland, consequently he is not a candidate in the sense that the term is usually understood. He is out of it and should be let alone. The people don't want him and the newspapers should give him a much needed rest. The public is certainly in need of one. Let Cleveland alone."

THE Sacramento Bee yesterday "roasts" one of the newly elected councilmen of that city in a burning editorial, in which that gentleman is charged with rewarding the most disreputable characters of the city with a license to run a saloon, which is "a hotbed of vice and licentiousness, a nursery of robbery and murder.' This editorial is followed by a paragraph which must have a very soothing effect. It reads:

> LATER—Since the above was written Mr. Green has called at the Bee office, and given his explanation of this matter, which will be found on another page. We desire to do no injustice whatever to Mr. Green, whom personally we think is an honorable citizen, but who seems to be tied up politically in a very unfortunate manner, etc.

The Arizona Kicker could not have improved on this in the least, except by adding the size of the gilded weapon which the gentleman used in emphasizing his argument.

SOME of the southern California papers appear to be pretty badly afflicted with the idea that their end of the state is going to be deprived of its political rights unless they are guarded with eternal vigilance mingled with hoarse shouts of defiance and appeals for help to repel the invading foe. There seems to be little cause for this painful state of affairs. If any section of the state has had more political consideration than another that part is southern California. The following plaint from that region comes from the Redlands Citrograph, a representative journal: "There are but ninety-three delegates south of the Tehachapi mountains. San Francisco alone has 110 delegates. In order to secure any recognition whatever the delegates from southern California should get together just as soon as they are elected and formulate a plan of joint action, so that they can and will work solidly for our rights. And thus can we avoid being wholly left in the selection of candidates." Quoting some very pertinent comments from the Tulare Register, "there has as yet been no disposition manifested in the north to saw interests in two across the Tehachapi mountains, and certainly our southern friends cannot afford to start the sawing. In the old sixth district there was a little mob of delegates north of the mountains that went into the congressional conventions for fun—at least that is all they ever got out of it. No southern delegate was ever heard to intimate that this bobtailed minority had any rights. Our southern friends had the votes to take what they wanted and they took everything in sight. Yet the northern end of the district did not stick its tongue in its cheek nor call bad names. This example is not a bad one. For the section that has its favorite son in the executive chair of the state there seems no call to roll up its ninety-three votes like a codfish ball as a weapon of offense and defense. Nothing has appeared to warrant the assumption that 'rights' are to be trampled under foot, and nothing but bumcombe appears in this sectional hoodoo. Let us scrape the moss off our backs and be Californians first of all. There is enough peanut politics now, and too many fellows in public life who cannot forget the dear little hills and dales of their home school district."

A Bridge for Fresno Street.

Dr. Maupin is heading a movement for the building of a bridge for vehicles and foot passengers over the Southern Pacific railroad track at the intersection of Fresno street. The movement appears to meet with the approbation of the property owners on Fresno street. Such a bridge would bring the bulk of the travel from the colonies into Fresno street, and could be built in a substantial manner at a cost of about $5000.

SLOW REGISTRATION.

A Very Short Man Registers—The New Law.

The registration of voters is proceeding rather slowly now, which means that there will be a rush later on. At present there is just enough work to make it pleasant for the extra deputy put on by the county clerk. Between 50 and 60 voters register each day.

The smallest man to register up to date is Frank B. Harris, whose height is 4 feet 10 inches.

Under the new law the applicant is required to give a little more information concerning himself than formerly. He must state his height, complexion, color of eyes, color of hair and visible marks or scars, if any, and their location. There is no truth in the rumor that citizens of foreign birth have to state the weight of their brogue. It is not intended to be as particular as a census taker.

By registering early the rush that is sure to ensue later on may be avoided.

J. M. Graham is up from Escondido, southern California.

SAVED BY PERJURY.

Clara Harrigan's Assailant on Trial.

THE MOTHER TO THE RESCUE

She Swears Her Daughter Was of the Age of Consent.

The case of Walter James, the half-breed tamale vender of Visalia who committed a criminal assault upon a 12-year-old girl near that town recently, is of interest to the people here from the fact that James was brought to the jail in this city because the Visalia people were so enraged that an attempt to lynch him was feared. The Visalia Delta of yesterday gives the following account of the trial:

"Walter James, the negro-Mexican tamale vendor, was arraigned in Judge Gray's department of the superior court Monday for trial, for criminally assaulting Clara Harrigan, a little girl. Yesterday afternoon the girl's parents testified that their daughter is 14 years of age, and therefore of the age of consent. Mrs. Harrigan testified before the grand jury that her child was only 12 years of age. By this latter testimony the woman saved an abandoned brute from the punishment outraged justice would surely have meted out to him.

"About February 1 last James took the little girl from her home with him in his buckboard to a lonely spot on the St. John river and criminally assaulted her. Witness testified that she rode along the road with the brute's arms around her and her eyes filled with tears. By promise of a new hat the negro succeeded in overcoming the child's unwillingness. Witnesses to the terrible crime came to town and reported the matter to the district attorney, who in turn informed the grand jury then in session. The child and mother were brought before the grand jury and their testimony taken. The mother positively testified that her daughter was 12 years of age, and was anxious that the vile outrager of the child should be brought to justice. The persons who saw the negro and the little girl testified as to what they saw. The grand jury brought in an indictment against James and he was promptly arrested and placed in the county jail.

"The news of the horrible crime spread with great rapidity, and on Tuesday evening, February 2, there were threats of lynching the prisoner and he was taken to Fresno on the midnight train and incarcerated in the county jail. A few days afterward James was brought back to Visalia.

"On Monday morning last the defendant was arraigned in department No. 2 for trial. All day was consumed in obtaining a jury, and only eight were secured. A venire for fifteen additional jurors were issued, and four more qualified yesterday morning.

"A few minutes before 1.30 yesterday afternoon Mrs. Harrigan entered District Attorney Powers' office and said that she had not told the truth before the grand jury as to her daughter's age; that she was confused at the time. She said her daughter was 14 years of age, and that she was mistaken when she testified to the grand jury that she was 12.

"Upon the resumption of the case Mrs. Harrigan testified substantially as narrated above, saying that her daughter was born September 17, 1877. Her husband corroborated his wife's testimony. The girl was placed on the stand and said that she was 14. According to the law of the state the age of consent is 14, and in this case the consent of the girl was obtained.

"District Attorney Power stated that he had been taken completely by surprise, and narrated the proceedings that had taken place in his office, when Mrs. Harrigan stated that her testimony given to the grand jury was false. He characterized the testimony just given by Mrs. Harrigan as the foulest perjury that had ever been given in a court in this state. He made a motion that the case be dismissed and the jury be instructed to bring in a verdict of acquittal. The court so instructed the jury and they retired to deliberate upon a verdict. J. C. Goad was appointed foreman. The jury came into court about 5 o'clock, and the roll was called.

"The foreman stated in answer to the usual questions, that the jury disagreed and did not in fact wish to render a verdict. The defendant's attorney submitted further instructions to the court, and the jury retired again. They still disagreed and were discharged. James was remanded."

According to private advices received by THE REPUBLICAN, the case has taken on a new development by the appearance in connection with it of a Mrs. Clayton, said to be the mistress of James. The Harrigan's allege that she was with James and the girl when the crime was committed. Last evening a committee of Visalia women waited on Mrs. Clayton and gave her twenty-four hours to leave the town.

District Attorney Powers will trace the date of the child's birth with the view of establishing a case of perjury against the Harrigan's. The defendant's attorney will move for a dismissal of the case on the ground that it has once been tried and decided. There is considerable indignation in Visalia over the turn the case has taken and there may yet be violence. The parents of the girl are coming in for much censure.

THE TRIANGLE.

Another Indecent Exposure Before the Public Last Night.

Only the Triangle were present at the adjourned meeting of the city council last night.

Mr. Fahey wore a gold triangle on his vest a little above his gizzard and displayed it with considerable pride. A spectator asked another whether Mr. Fahey was a Free Mason, as there was some doubt caused by the fact that his badge did not bear the compass, square and letter G.

"Oh," replied the person addressed, "Fahey is neither a Mason nor on the square politically. He may have been a brickmason, and I am very much in doubt whether he has much understanding of or respect for the mystic letter G. In fact he does not spell even gin with a capital G; he uses a small j."

Mr. Alford distributed among his friends in the lobby a printed card bearing the following inscription:

"B. T. Alford, Candidate for the Nomination for Sheriff of Fresno county. Subject to action of the Democratic primaries."

Now as Fahey is making a fight for the nomination for sheriff Mr. Alford's card may create a serious split in the Triangle. Then there is Sheriff Hensley who has developed a most wonderful grip in holding on to the position, and whose hand shows no sign of paralysis as yet. What would he say? Would he tamely submit to see his large emoluments and perquisites diverted into the pockets of Fahey or Alford, who are merely ward politicians and not knee high to an experienced manipulator of the county political wires? Hardly.

The next business of the meeting was the presentation and allowance of bills as follows: $27.75 as board for engine No. 2's horses. This bill was o. k'd. by Chief Engineer Higgins and his expectant successor Tim Walton. A bill for $6.81 was allowed the Valley Lumber company, also of George Anderson for $5.50 for extra service at fires, of Graham & Terry for filing papers in the fire department case and for $5 for the services of their stenographer.

Mr. Alford announced that $500 had been already expended for the work of filling the Mill ditch and that $1000 more would be required. Action on the matter was deferred until next Wednesday night at 7.30 p.m., to which time the Triangle adjourned.

A RICH JOKE.

Charles Hayden to be Punished for Being Funny.

Charles Hayden, a lodger in Tombs' hotel, was tried before Justice of the Peace Prince yesterday on a charge of having stolen a fellow laundryman's clean socks, shirts, etc. The evidence showed that Hayden had recieved from the laundryman the wash of another lodger, and had enveloped himself into it as if it were his own.

Hayden explained with a smiling face and many a "tee! hee! you know," that it was the usual thing to wear a friend's underclothing by way of a joke, "yer honor."

James Walker, the complaining witness, was a singularly obtuse and even non-humorous individual. He swore that he could not see any point in the joke as he was not a friend of the waggish Hayden.

Justice Prince was also in a humorous mood and found the defendant guilty with "a ha! ha! ho! ho!" expression and wittily ordered him to appear for sentence this afternoon, when the point of the joke will be explained to him by means of a diagram containing a barred window.

NEW SPRING GOODS.

A Superb Stock at Sachs & Heringhi's.

This is the season for new spring dress goods, and Sachs & Heringhi, the leaders, have done themselves and Fresno credit in the magnificent and well assorted stock just opened in their store on Mariposa street, near J. It includes everything in the dry goods line dear to the feminine heart as many admiring exclamations of the ladies who examine the stock sufficiently evince. Particular attention is called to the silks exhibited this year—crepe, pongee and India in all shades. The new goods include lace novelties, baptiste, canton crepe, zephyrs, all wool challies, parasols, white goods, embroideries, etc. This stock must be seen to be appreciated. *

The Candy Parlors Re-arranged and Improved.

The trade of the Candy Parlors on J street, has grown so rapidly of late that it became necessary to re-arrange the already commodious and well furnished store. For the convenience of patrons, an additional number of tables have been placed in the parlors. The soda fountain has been removed to a place in the store near the tables and with plenty of space about it, so that customers may enjoy the beverage in comfort. A magnificent mirror adorns the wall opposite the counter. These with many minor changes and improvements, make the Candy Parlor the prettiest as well as one of the busiest stores in Fresno. *

MAX O'RELL'S TALK.

HIS VIEWS ON AMERICAN MEN AND WOMEN.

He Finds Much to Praise and Little to Censure—We Live Too Fast.

A tall, strong, handsome-faced, pleasant-mannered man, in full dress, stood on the platform of the Barton opera house and entertained, in a most delightful way, a rather small audience last night. To the law he is known as Paul Blouet; to the public he much better known as Max O'Rell. He proved himself a delightfully clever man and one of keen insight. His wit was entertaining because it was true.

Mr. Blouet has a strong face, with a compact brown moustache. His brown hair is comfortably thick still on the sides of his head, but not on top—there are but a couple of sparse tufts along the median line. He is conversational in his manner of delivery. He takes all the time he wants, is deliberate, moves about the stage with perfect freedom, and has a peculiar way of drawing his mouth and moustache to one side or the other as he talks—a not by any means unpleasant trait, however.

No report that THE REPUBLICAN has space for this morning could give any idea of all his witty and entertaining observations. Only a few can be presented by way of samples. It was a lecture to be heard, and the lecturer seen.

"I have found, in coming across the continent," he said, "that it grows warmer as you come this way; it is warmer all the way across, until you get to California, which is perfect. That is a statement that don't require proving. I believe even the Californians themselves admit it."

After a very interesting story of the undemonstrative way in which he was received by a magnificent Portland, Me., audience of 1600 he read a concisely and elegantly worded tribute to American women, and went on to say that one phase of American life which seemed to him delightful, and not to be found in Europe, was the perfect respect paid to woman on the streets—the moral cleanness of the streets. In Europe he was obliged to take ladies by the most direct line from the theater door to a cab to escape insult, but in America himself and ladies could wend to their hotel, a few blocks, in perfect security. It was the respect that the American woman inspired in all classes, which enabled her to be such a queen. The American was the typical woman, above the woman of all other lands in perfect naturalness and intellectual attractiveness and versatility. He emphasized her naturalness, and in intellectual matters her freedom from any sense of sex.

"I am often asked," he said, "what I think of America; speculate often on the growth of population. Judging by the past I should say that in 200 years you will have in this country 200,000,000 people. What will Europe have? It strikes a foreigner that nothing will be impossible to you of America bye and bye. In America sensations are supplied by your journals; in Europe by potentates. Every spring must face, yes, even now is facing, the question of whether 500,000 of her sons shall spring at each other's throats at the behest of half a dozen reigning kings.

"But great as America is there are some things Europe, especially France, can teach you, and one of those is how to rest. Americans don't live, they burn—at both ends. In your anxiety to gain money you miss a great deal of quiet happiness. The American wants a million, ten millions, forgetting that while he may possess a million he can never possess ten millions—the ten millions possess him. In France the shopkeeper locks his door from 12.30 to 2 o'clock to keep out customers, that he may spend that time eating dinner with his family, but the American hangs on on his door: 'Gone to dinner; back in five minutes.' These 5-minute dinners—do you know what is the result of them? Your country disfigured from end to end with advertisements of liver pills.

"And now, in closing, I may give you a little piece of advice. You want to prosper; I hope you will. Get money, some money, and keep it. Live well, and live long. For it will be some time before you'll have another chance.

California 100.

Walking down Mariposa street with our old friend Fred Quant, we were met by four gentlemen in official toggery. It was last week while gold lace, gold cord and stripes on blue were so plentiful as to be almost common.

"Great guns," shouted one, "here's Fred Quant. Why, God bless my soul, old man, howdy!" and he seized the weather beaten farmer's brown hand in his that shone in the clasp soft and white and jeweled like a woman's.

"Fred Quant! Why old man," said another, and seized the released hand with a fraternal grip, and so the good word passed from lip to lip, and the remnant of California's 100 shamed not to wipe away the tears from manly eyes while the long review of battlefield and bivouac was enjoyed.—Selma Irrigator.

BAYLY STILL UNBAILED.

Arraigned Before Justice Crichton and Put Under Bond.

J. M. Bayly, the penman, was arraigned before Justice Crichton yesterday morning, who fixed his bond at $1500. Not being able to furnish the same he was remanded and is still twanging melancholy melodies on the jail harps.

Bayly is a son-in-law of T. B. Craycroft, a brother of C. J. Craycroft, formerly Bayly's partner. Bayly says he was drunk when he passed the checks and was not responsible. He professes to have no fear of consequences so far as the two checks he signed Craycroft & Bayly are concerned, claiming he had a right to sign that firm name. The check he is afraid of is the one for $146.50 which he signed C. J. Craycroft.

Bayly's wife was at the jail yesterday several times to see him. She is very much worried over the trouble her husband is in and did her best yesterday to hunt up sureties for him. Bayly was formerly a hack driver in this city. He has been rather dissipated for some time.

The Beavers' Case.

The trial of John A. Beavers has been set for this morning. There are two charges against him; one of bigamy and another of perjury.

Beavers is the man who eloped with the daughter of George Bates of Fresno Flats some time ago. The girl is under age, but Beavers represented her to be of age and obtained a license. They were married by Recorder Laning. Therein consists the charge of perjury.

It is also claimed that Beavers had a wife living when he married Miss Bates, though Beavers asserts there was never any legal ceremony performed binding him and the woman.

The Democratic Convention.

The citizens committee appointed to take measures toward securing the meeting of the Democratic state convention in this city met last night. A report was made that $1975 had been collected and that halls had been engaged for the convention and its various committees. Two hours were wasted in a very unparliamentary manner in a discussion upon a motion to adjourn, and after the orators had exhausted their supply of oxygen an adjournment was had until 4 o'clock this afternoon.

Disgusted Sports.

The Fresno sports are recovering from the knock out they received at the Madera prize fight. Young Choynski was the favorite at odds of $20 to $15 and the sports took the long end of the betting and crowded out through the small end of the horn. Among the victims of misplaced confidence were Jo P. Carroll, Red Jones and a few other people who do not like to march behind the band in the grand army of suckers.

Curd for Constable.

J. V. Curd of this city is being urged by his friends to accept the nomination for constable of this township on the Democratic ticket. There is probably not a man in the party who would make a stronger race than Mr. Curd, as he has had experience as a peace officer and is an honorable business man.

Three on One Beat.

City Marshal Morgan could do much good even with his present small police force if he would detail one patrolman on each beat. Three policemen on a block are rather crowding things in a town of 11,000 inhabitants, especially when the three policemen constitute the whole of the night force.

Drowned and Unknown.

The body of an unidentified man, very much decomposed, was found lying in the San Joaquin river yesterday. The body had been in the water about two months. The coroner brought it to this city, where it was buried in the pauper's plot in the cemetery.

A MEMORIAL TRIBUTE

To the Memory of Mrs. Jennie H. Burton.

As the years of life roll on and the functions of existence decay it is beneficently ordained that life should lose its zest for us, but when the silken cord is loosened of one yet in her prime, active in loving, charitable work, with a long, bright, happy future before her, there is much sorrowful thought in the event.

And thus we are called upon to chronicle the death, the closing of the earthly career of of Mrs. Jennie H., wife of Mr. O. N. Burton of Fowler, Cal.

She was born in Nova Scotia, nearly thirty-seven years ago, but left her mother country several years since, and for a time resided in Boston, Mass., where she was much interested in advanced education and the development of the mind. She was endowed with great mental wealth, and was a most studious scholar, keeping abreast with thought of the age.

She, with her husband, have made Fowler their home for more than five years, where she was ever active in all that pertained to the welfare of that place.

She passed away in Sacramento, Cal., on March 15, 1892, leaving a husband, mother, three sisters and four brothers behind.

Last summer, when the sickness that proved her last, first laid seige to the vital centers, she little heeded its warnings, but bravely combatted its inroads, warding off as best she could its ill effects; still the time finally came when she could no longer conceal its ravages, and, although having so much to live for, so many unfinished plans to carry forward and perfect, she most courageously submitted to the fate that all mankind falls heir to.

Her loving and ever devoted husband could not so easily conform to the decrees of medical advice, but tried every available means of cure, taking her from one health resort to another in search for restorative means, but all in vain, and as the end seemed to be drawing very near, her sister, Mrs. Gaft of Sacramento, prevailed upon her to come to her home, placing at her command all the comforts that are so much needed by an invalid.

And so for days and weeks the time passed on, bringing with them so much untold suffering, tortures of body that could scarcely be borne, but with it all came strength from the great fountainhead, strength and courage to bear it all without complaining, ever looking brightly, hopefully forward, feeling an inward assurance that a life well and profitably spent could bring but good results, and that there was nothing dark awaiting her in the great beyond. Such a glorious, sweet ending of an earthly life points us to a higher, brighter sphere of existence. It certainly will be a guide to the loving ones left behind, and become to them a beautiful legacy. To the aged mother whose life's lamp is nearing its flickering point, we can but say the reunion is not afar off; she has only gone before to extend a welcoming hand. To her husband, sisters and brothers, all her life back has been sweet and loving, and to her friends she has left a most noble example.

RESTTA V. HADDEN.

THAT BADGE OF SHAME.

An Incredulous Correspondent is Assured of the Truth.

EDITOR REPUBLICAN.—Will you please inform a Democrat who takes your paper for the reliable news it contains whether the item in yesterday's issue stating that Councilman Fahey wears a triangle on his breast is correct or only a joke. I can hardly believe it to be true. A chicken thief would not be likely to take the stolen fowl out of his pocket and exhibit it to the jury. BOURBON.

Fresno, March 23.

If Bourbon will call upon Mr. Fahey he will be shown the triangle by that gentleman himself. In fact, he glories in it. But Fahey is not a chicken thief and should not be compared to one. He is merely the grand larcenist of the whole fire department for political purposes.—[EDITOR REPUBLICAN.]

WHEAT AND GOLD.

HENRY CLEWS DISCOURSES UPON BOTH SUBJECTS.

Farmers, However, Should Draw Their Own Conclusions for Their Own Benefit.

The following bulletin from the New York banking house of Henry Clews & Co. is of interest:

"Although dull and irregular, the stock market has shown a firm undertone during the week. Confidence has been somewhat disturbed by the questioned legality of the coal deal; and, until this point is finally settled, an important group of stocks will be subjected to more or less uncertainty. In monetary circles there is also a cautionary feeling, arising mainly from silver agitation, gold shipments, the Behring sea dispute, the proposed international conference and the approach of April settlements. But none of these contingencies are of a serious or immediate nature; so that their effect is seen in caution more than concern. The Richmond Terminal scheme was followed by a decline in the securities of that organization, the chief advantages of which were the scaling down of fixed charges and the proposed economies in management. Cheap cotton and reaction from over development of industries in the south have injured nearly all southern railroad properties; and the conflicting interests in Richmond Terminal properties may as well decide to accept the best conditions they can get. If the reorganization goes through it will remove an important hindrance to the bull campaign.

"But we are now dealing more with the future than the present. After the first week of April the market will pass into a new and probably more favorable phase. The outflow of gold will probably have ceased; the usual temporary transfers of currency to the country for the April yearly settlements will have been effected; and the silver agitation will have passed into a stage of development which will afford a clearer foresight as to its ultimate issue. The factors which, three weeks hence, are likely to be chiefly occupying the attention of the market will be mainly the following. In the first place, the very low prices of a few leading staples, especially iron and cotton; as, however, these declines are not due to any lack of demand, but to an extraordinary increase in supply, they are likely to be construed as on the whole beneficial to business at large, though unfavorable to profits in those special interests. Next will come the prospects of the new crops.

"So far, the condition of winter wheat is upon the whole favorable; and should the present outlook be maintained, the effect at the west will be unusually helpful, for the crop conditions on the continent of Europe are anything but encouraging, while Russia can hardly fail to yield this year another short crop; so that a second good harvest in the United States would be likely to meet a ready foreign demand at good prices; besides which, it is to be considered that our stocks of both wheat and corn still on hand are equal to over 40 per cent of an average crop, which leaves unprecedented supplies for export between now and next harvest. Those facts have a very direct bearing upon the prospects of the railroads for the next twelve months. Another favorable factor will appear, at the time indicated, in connection with the silver problem.

"Even though the vote of congress on the measure now pending should be affirmative, it would certainly be anulled by the President's veto; which would make free coinage impossible until a new President and new members of congress were elected. Should the next President happen to be a Republican, it is reasonable to assume that he would veto any free coinage bill that might be passed by congress during his term of office. Should a Democrat be elected to the presidency, the indications are daily accumulating that he would be ex-President Cleveland; whose record warrants our assuming that he would equally resist the policy of the silver faction.

"Thus the probabilities largely favor the prospects of the defeat of future attempts to force free coinage upon the country. It is also proper to take into account the possibility, not to say the fair degree of probability, that at no distant day the European powers may consent to meet our government in conference to consider measures looking to the formation of a new bi-metallic union which, if successful, would have immense results in the general restoration of confidence and in removing from our securities the stigma which now rests upon them in European estimation of possibly becoming payable in a depreciated currency.

"Further, it is to be considered that the moderation of our imports and the continued largeness of our exports of cereals are calculated to keep the balance of trade liberally in our favor for some time to come and may turn the movement of gold towards the United States at a later stage of the year. These are some of the considerations that will occupy the attention of Wall street with the opening of April; and assuming that money will remain easy until the fall and that the forwarding of the unprecedented reserves of grain will keep up the increased rate of earnings of the railroads, it seems reasonable to expect that the stock market will then recover from its present comparative quiet. Between now and then, however, the conditions are likely to encourage deferment of large speculative buying; and for that reason we advise, for the moment, purchasing only on fair reactions and realizing on moderate profits."

It would be well for farmers and others to buy a 5-pound sack of dairy salt both before and after reading Mr. Clews' seductive song.

An Indirect Appeal.

A Winter Charm.

A Wilmington man carries in his vest pocket a piece of skin that was taken from a man's neck and then tanned. He—the Wilmington man, not the other man—claims that the possession of that piece of tanned skin will keep him from slipping on the ice.
